

Museum Scavenger Hunt - can you find objects that match these descriptions?

Something you can paddle	Something you could fire	Something made of metal	Something to help you breathe underwater
Something you can tie	Something made of stone	Something made of wood	Something you could ring
Something to help you send a Morse code signal	How would you send an SOS message?	Something you could play (musical instrument)	Something to help you see at night

Notes for teachers and parents

- This activity is designed to get people to look at the things around them with greater care.
- Being able to identify different materials is basic science
- It encourages them to make links - an object that is like something you have at home.
- It encourages them to have an opinion - something you would like to take home. Asking them why will develop their reasoning.
- If you talk to them about their choices it will develop their speaking and listening skills.